The Third Party Liability Cover

The average annual financial amount of services provided over the last three years should represent at least half of the annual contract value or part thereof for which the Bidder is selected for award

In the circumstances, the Evaluation Committee held the view that your Company did not meet the qualifying criteria as per the ITB 5.2(a) and was not retained for further evaluation.

Furthermore, we wish to inform you that the contract for the security services has been awarded to the lowest responsive bidder and Notification to unsuccessful bidders was not sent because the amount of contract is less than the prescribed threshold as per the Public Procurement Act 2006 40(3) and Regulations 38(3).”

G. The Hearing

Hearings were held on 24 August, 14 September and 21 September 2015. Written submissions were made on 14 September 2015 by Applicant and 03 September and 17 September 2015 by and Respondent respectively.

The Applicant was represented by Ms S. Chuong, Counsel together with Mr R. Rajroop, Attorney whereas the Respondent was represented by Ms K. Domah, State Counsel.

H. Findings

Under ITB 13 (d) (1), the Bidding Documents request that each bidder provide the “Number of qualified security staff (Male/Female) available, including their level of experience. Clearly, this is an important element of the proposed Plan of Work of the Bidder, itself an essential criterion in evaluation.

The Bidding Documents are silent on what constitutes a “qualified security staff”. The Applicant has argued that the interpretation of this term should be obtained from the Private Security Service Act 2004 which provides the following definition: “security guard” means a person employed by a private security service who guards, patrols or provides any other security service for the purpose of protecting person or property. An Amendment in 2008 expanded this definition, but did not alter its import and meaning for the purposes of this discussion. That same Act under section 7 provides that:

Security guards to be registered

1. Any person who wishes to perform the duties of a security guard shall make an application for a certificate of registration to the Commissioner in such form as may be approved by the Commissioner.

2. The Commissioner may require an applicant to furnish such additional information, and make such investigations and conduct such examinations, as he considers necessary respecting the character and competence of the applicant.

3. The Commissioner may refuse to register an applicant who –

4. Where the Commissioner is satisfied that the applicant meets the requirements of this section, he may, subject to such conditions as he thinks fit to impose, issue a certificate of registration and a badge to the applicant on payment of the prescribed fee.

The Respondent has argued that 1. The above provisions of the PSS Act do not apply to employees of a licensed operator, but to individuals who wish to offer security services as security guards, and 2. That the Bidding Documents did not contain any provision that the “qualified security staff” requested should be registered.

After consideration of the arguments from both parties, and after deliberation, the Panel is of the view that:

1. It is clear from the definition provided in the PSS Act 2004, as well as from a reading of other parts of the same Act, that any agent proposed by a licensed operator as a “security guard” should be registered. Furthermore, in the absence of any definition in the Bidding Documents, and from the functions that the “qualified security staff” would be required to perform, the Panel is of opinion that the latter refer in fact to security guards as defined in the PSS Act of 2004, as later amended.

2. The provisions of the Bidding Documents cannot override the Laws of the land.

In view of the above, it is not necessary for the Panel to delve further into the merits of the Application, but would like to record that a Public Body would be right not to proceed further with the evaluation of a bid if the latter has been found lacking in a major criterion in a way that cannot be corrected through clarification.

I. Decision

For the above reasons, the Panel finds that the tender process was vitiated, and therefore orders the annulment of the tender exercise.
